Alvin was one of my favorite classmates in Immanuel Lutheran School. School was hard for him and the teachers were pretty strict. I always tried to seek him out at recess to make sure he was ok. He would just smile and reassure me that he was. Sometimes he didn't have much in his lunchbox so I would share something out of mine. Again he would flash that smile and say thank you in a soft voice. Even though we haven't seen each other in years his death hit me hard and brought back many pleasant memories. I can see from the pictures that he had a happy life. I'm so glad. Condolences to all of his family.
