“ Boyce was a blessing to know & always a delight to visit with. His knowledge of Scripture & memorization of literary works was astounding. He gave us a greater appreciation of the King James Version of the Bible as he explained that, because of the poetical way in which it was written, it’s much easier to memorize than the modern translations. And we found that to be so true as we memorized Scriptures with our children when they were young. Boyce made an indelible impression on our lives, and we are so grateful that we got to know him and his precious wife, Claudette, as we worshipped the Lord together at Liberty Church. We pray that all of the family will know God’s sustaining Grace through this difficult time of loss....How true are the precious hymn lyrics that state, “when we all get to heaven, what a day of rejoicing that will be!”
