“ I was a close friend of Cathy’s between 1989-1998 on the Lower East Side in New York. We shared many close moments, picnicking in Prospect Park, dancing to ‘45s and tromping through the East Village. I was looking for her online when I came across this obituary and I am overcome with sadness. Cathy was very kind and intelligent, and helped me at several key crossroads- finding a job, and advocating for a promotion. She was a lovely and legal friend, and overcame a troubled emotional past to live a life that she designed. I miss her very much.

“ I printed a lot of jobs for Cathy when she lived and worked in NYC and I knew her pretty well. She always had a smile and was nice to work with.

“ It should be mentioned that for much of her adult life, Cathy managed a successful career in New York City. She supervised print production for J Crew and Brooks Brothers, and worked for major firms in advertising and publishing. She lived on the Lower East Side years before it became a trendy neighborhood. Cathy was kind, smart, creative and independent, and overcame many obstacles throughout her life. She was loved dearly and will be remembered as a unique and fearless person.
