“ Christian spent a lot of time in my classroom...when he was in my class, or after or before classes, between classes, after school, and sometimes during other classes, lol. It was easy to get him to crack a smile; he was pretty nonchalant about life. He was smarter than he liked to admit, and had a beautifully kind heart. I am blessed by having known him, and am saddened by our loss with his passing, way too soon from this life. We can all learn from his laid-back ways, and the quiet love he shared for all of his friends. I will miss you, Christian. Keep an eye over your babies, and all of us!! Much love...hasta luego...

How many times did Christian come to ky classroom? Besides being in class, he stopped by between classes, after school, and sometimes during class (lol), sometimes alone, often with friends. We talked about all kinds of stuff. Sometimes it was a 'Momma Morton' style lecutre, and a lot of times it was laughs and grins. Christian had a kind heart, a fun outlook on life, a strobg bond with his friends, and a gentle spirit. I liked to make him smile, and think (he was smarter than he wanted to admit). I am so shocked and sad that he is gone from us. He will always be in my mind and heart, one if my kids. 💔
