Tribute Wall

“ My brother Darrell, who went by Joe, took care of me and my other brother Byron, because he was the oldest. He took us to the movies and all around Chicago, where we grew up. I always could count on Joe to watch over me because I was the only girl and his little sister. He was the last person on this earth to call me Sis, and I am really going to miss that. Now Joe is on the other side with most of our early childhood relations. I pray that he finds Peace in the arms of our Creator and believe that I will see him again someday. Rest in Peace my brother. I love you.
