“ My favorite memory of Darrell is when we would visit on the weekends and go to the little Baptist Church in Tanglewood. But church didn't stop there. He and I would come home only to gather around the piano and we would sing hymns and worship songs. We had a favorite and when we got together at Mom's a few years back on Easter (it also happened to be her birthday) we went to the piano and there it was in his song book. "Rise Again" by Dallas Holms. We had a good time that day reminiscing. Wish we could of had more times like those! I will miss you baby brother. Didn't have enough time with you these last several years. But you can be sure I will see you again!

“ Darrell would always give me a goofy smirk when asking " Is all your paperwork in order or am i gonna have to call in a favor?". Your are going to be severely missed by many of your Pumpco co-works, mainly the Hill Bore Crew family. Rest easy now and may god be with you. Your friend, Andrew Hill

“ I will never forget how proud Darrell looked as he lead the Lexington band on the field at contest and the football games.
