“ Ernie I will miss you for the rest of my life. I remember when we had to be friends because we didn't know anyone else. How many games of cards we must have played. If we had a deck of cards we could entertain ourselves for hours on end. We each had to have our own deck of cards. Lots of different kinds of solitaire too. I use to dread getting the call from you that I needed to go beat someone up for you. How many friends of yours I taught to dance. Remembering the year we had to move 17 different times. Our mother really loved our daddy. I will always love my baby brother. Rest in peace until we see each other again one day. ”

“ My dad was in many ways a gentle giant. He was strong physically but also in his convictions. He was a craftsman who excelled in virtually everything he attempted. He also was extremely funny and I could probably spend hours telling stories about himself. I live many miles away but my coworkers felt like they knew him from the tales I told of growing up in rural Texas with such a gregarious father and family. He will be sorely missed. For those who have posted such nice words here, thank you. For those who didn't get a chance to know him...you missed out.

“ Uncle Ernie,
*I know you are up there and just maybe you're reading this...
I'm no holy roller, but the man, the legacy you leave, the huge heart you had, it's just the way it is...*

*I didn't know you well as a child and never questioned why...
Then I grew up and figured out it wasn't due to you or I...*

*I will cherish all the stories you shared of our family, eating breakfast together and working together...
Those memories we had fishing, sharpening knives, throwing dice at the nugget, they'll be with me forever...*

*The way you loved my mama, my wife, my sister, me & the boys...
I'm forever grateful for you and the time that we all enjoyed...*

*To Aunt Kay, Ernest, David, Michael, Kara, Megan, and the littles...
THANK YOU for sharing him, if you're reading this riddle...*

*Your loss and pain, the memories, the love, they'll never go away...
And I hope and pray that we all see Uncle Ernie again some day...*

“ I shared many good times and laughs with Ernie and Kay at state conventions and other events over the course of at least twenty years. I also enjoyed talking to him and listening to him. He made beautiful knives.

“ This is for those who did not know Ernie very well. Ernie and I were classmates from 5th grade through high school, in a very small school. There were 16 in our graduating class in 1965. We were good friends all along the way, but I was not alone; Ernie was very active in school and popular with everyone. However, after graduation, we all scattered in 16 different directions, pursuing our respective careers. Then, in what seems like the blink of an eye, we were old and mostly retired. It was then my great fortune to reconnect with Ernie during the last 7 years, and it was as if it was the day after graduation all over again. We picked up right where we left off almost exactly 50 years later. Ernie was a big man in stature and heart, with wide range of talents, from building his home, being a Master Plumber and being able to fix anything humanly possible. Additionally, he was quietly one of the brightest and smartest people I have ever known, with a balance of intelligence, common sense, wisdom and kindness, which seems increasingly rare to find in one person. His generosity was legendary. If Ernie had it and you needed it, it was yours. Along the way, Ernie began making handmade knives, and like everything he did, he excelled in this art, converting a hobby into a business, with his partner, and son, Michael; creating knives that were works of art, becoming collectable treasures. He could often be found in the late-night hours or small hours of the morning toiling over a knife in his workshop. This is the definition of an artist, whether a writer, painter, or sculpturist. Ernie enriched all who knew him, and I count myself to be in that fortunate company. I have had many regrets in my life, and one of the greatest was not spending more time with Ernie while I had the chance. He was a good friend who I greatly admired and will miss.

My wish for Kay and the family is peace, love, and comfort in these difficult, dark days ahead.

*No one can replace a loved one who is gone. It is an emptiness that doesn't go away. But as long as we remember and tell stories about that person he continues to live. There are so many stories to share about Ernie know that my heart and prayers are with your family today. We will remember the good times

“ My thoughts and prayers are with you Kay and your family. Ernie had lots of good stories to tell. You just needed to make sure that you had nothing else to do, because you are drawn into the stories. He was such a talented man, I loved looking at his collection. May he Rest In Peace.
