In Loving Memory of Frederico M. Alvarez

It is in death that this reserved and quiet man wishes to reach those he loved. Born March 3, 1947 Frederico, better known as Freddie M. Alvarez, of Austin Texas, leaves this earth, in peace, September 29, 2018. It was his final desire to a turbulent and restless life of homelessness, to see his beloved wife and his four daughters one last time. He lost them due to his alcoholism, yet never quit loving them or wishing for better days.

Almost four decades later, he thanked God for allowing his dream to come true. His youngest daughter found him on social media - he was the resident of the month in a small town nursing home. Soon after, reunification through phone calls and family visitations brought the forgiveness that he longed for and finally tranquility to let go. He reconnected with three of his daughters and stepson, met grandchildren and created new memories. His desire for all who knew him and made an effort to connect with him, is to remember, in the end, nothing matters but relationships. Thank you for reaching out to him and caring.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Margie Ledesma Alvarez; his son Freddy Alvarez Jr.; and his daughter Maryann Altamirano.

He is survived by his three daughters, Melissa Marquez, Connie A. Thompson, and Sandra Altamirano; his stepson, Homer Hernandez (Linda); grandchildren, Jessica L. Richardson, Amanda M. Craig, Carlina Abelaiz, Carlos Abelaiz, and Anna Marie A. Loera; great-grandchild, Victoria E. Rodriguez.

Per his wishes, in lieu of flowers make memorial contributions to the charity of your choice who work with children, the homeless and/or a nursing home.

“ I remember that he loved to take us to the park, near the river. We played on the swings, merry-go-round for hours. He also enjoyed taking us to see his family. So many uncles. Many memories.
