“ It's hard to reconcile the last few days. I do not remember Neva not being in my life. From the time I was 6 years old, Neva has been my second mother, my friend, my confidant and, for the past 11 years, my mother-in-law. From whistling us home for dinner in the 70's to crying when I joined the Marine Corps, to giving me one of the biggest hugs even when Amy and I married. Neva has always been there. I would tease her by asking for a Pea Can Pie or putting my spurs on in her kitchen. Both drove her crazy but I could still get a smile and a hug out of her. I loved this strong, outspoken, independent woman that had nothing but a fierce love and loyalty to her family. I know you are here, watching over us. I will carry you in my heart. Always and Forever.
