Jason was born to Wilfred Gail & Carolyn Jean Blackmon on August 2, 1974, at St. David's Hospital in Austin, Texas. He lived most of his life in Lexington, Texas where he graduated from Lexington High School in 1993. After high school, Jason attended North Texas Job Corp in McKinney, Texas and was certified as a Nurses Aide. He held several jobs through the years at several locations. Jason had a strong love for football, especially the Lexington Eagles and Texas Longhorns. He attended as many Eagle football games as he could as was an avid reader; he always had a book in hand wherever he went.

As a child Jason attended the First Baptist Church and later joined the Catholic Church in Lexington. He was a member of the Post Oak Island Lodge #181 in Beakiss, Texas. Jason was also very active in the NA organization in Caldwell. He loved to be around people, especially his nieces and nephews.

Cecil and Merle Wilson.

He is survived by his father, Wilfred Gail Blackmon, step-mother, Doris Blackmon of Caldwell Texas, sister, Dana Rasco, nieces Kendall Blackmon and Brighton Rasco, nephew, Kadin Rasco of Houston, Texas, step-brothers, Charles Smith and wife Lorena of College Station, Texas and Daniel Smith of Caldwell; step sister Jennifer Martinez and husband John of College Station, Texas, as well as his extended friends and family.

Jason's family would like to extend a special thank you to all his friends in Lexington and in Caldwell for spending time with him over the years. He cherished your friendship and kindness. Jason will always be remembered lovingly for his kindness and caring heart.

“ I didn't know about your passing when it happened. I'm so sorry, Jason. I wish I could have been there. Well, maybe you and Grady Ray Edward's can have a bowling match in Heaven, since y'all had so much fun with those here. I'm speechless. You were indeed a good friend. Stood up to challenges, didn't back down. Rest in Heaven, Jason.

“ I'll miss you cuz. I'm so blessed to have gotten to be your friend. You kept what you had by giving it away. You understood me and always gave me hope. Fly high my cousin. You'll never be forgotten.

“ My cousin had more than his fair share of challenges in life, but he was always smiling, cheerful and cracking jokes when I saw him. We were pen pals growing up and into our young adulthood. We switched to cell phones and texting in recent years. When I visited him every summer growing up, he pulled out every toy and electronic game he had and wanted us to PLAY!! I was more of a TV girl and book worm, but I did my best. I'm curious how many books he read and how many poems and songs he wrote. (I know I have some that he sent me.) He loved to tease, and he loved to call me "cousin" and my husband "preacher boy". I'm so glad we all got to see him again this past February. Even though it was a sad occasion, Jason was smiling and catching up with everyone and trying to cheer us up during a very dark week. Give your friends and family time and attention, because when they're gone, they're gone. We never know when that time will come for each of us. Until we meet again, cousin! I am glad you're no longer suffering. 💙

“ I am speechless that you are gone. You will always live in my heart and mind, we had some good times. I met you when we went to school in Lincoln, you stood up for me like a brother I never had. We went to Astros games together and saw a few movies in Brenham together. We always had respect for Stone Cold Steve Austin and once drove down the wrong way on a one way street in Brenham. Bottom line you were and are an amazing person and one that I will always call my best friend. You have Jesus in your heart as do I and I know I will see you again my friend.

“ Jason was the best man at our wedding. He and my husband are extremely close and would often share memories of football and most of all-WWE wrestling. They would talk for hours about current and past wrestlers, storylines, and upcoming talent. He always wanted to know how our family was doing and I'm so glad that he and Eric had each other in their lives. He will be missed but I know that his faith was strong and is strong. God Bless the family during this time and in the days to come.

“ Jason, I will miss our talks under the Friday Night Lights in Lexington. You always had a story to tell when you found me along the fence. Keep watch over those Lexington Eagles and The Texas Longhorns that you loved so much. Fly high my friend, you will truly be missed. My sincere condolences to your family and friends as they say their final goodbyes in the coming days.
